

710 Loyola Men In Armed Forces

Ten Will Appear In "Who's Who"

Ten members of the senior class will be included in the forthcoming edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". According to the requirements of "Who's Who", only upperclassmen who have shown outstanding qualities of leadership and scholarship are eligible.

Those who were selected this year were first nominated by the senior members of the Student Council, voted upon by them, and finally approved by the Dean and President. The successful candidates are: Daniel H. Bathon, ASN Treasurer, and President of the senior class; Paul R. Connolly, Jr., President of ASN, and of the Bellarmine Debating Society; Edwin T. Steffy, Jr., ASN, Chairman of the International Relations Club; W. Barkley Fritz, ASN Secretary, and Copy Editor of THE GREYHOUND.

Henry V. Chase, ASN Vice-President; Joseph G. Kuhn, Jr., Evergreen Yearbook Editor and GREYHOUND News Editor; Edward J. Pazourek, Athletic Association President; Richard Molloy, Mathematics Club President; Robert J. McElroy, Student Council President; and Merton J. Manzer, senior class Vice-President complete the list.

These names will be submitted to the editors of "Who's Who" as being representative men of Loyola, chosen impartially and conscientiously, with paramount consideration for scholarship, leadership and service at Loyola. At present, "Who's Who" is the only means of national recognition, devoid of initiation dues and fees, for honor students. In the last nine years the number of colleges represented in this annual has increased from 250 to 650. This year it lists practically every recognized college and university in the nation.

The purpose of this unique publication is twofold. First, to serve

Alpha Sigma Nu Sponsors Dance In Senior Week

The Alpha Sigma Nu Honor Fraternity will sponsor its annual formal dance at the Hotel Stafford on Friday, October 1. Tickets are now on sale for $2.20, and may be purchased from any member of the fraternity.

Killian Orchestra

Paul R. Connolly, President of the society, announced that Rudy Killian has been signed for the occasion. This marks Killian's first appearance since his summer engagement at Gwynn Oak Park.

Open To College

This dance is the only senior week activity which is open to the entire college. The scene of the dance and the excellence of music to be provided, insure that the dance will be one of the finest during the school year. It will also be the first strictly formal affair since the Junior Prom last Thanksgiving.

The following are members of ASN, and may be contacted for tickets: Daniel Bathon, Paul Connolly, Barkley Fritz, Angelo Nastasi, Ed Steffy, Charles Lerch, Tony Leary and Joe Krejci.

Whatever may be the glories of war, however great the victory may be, the price of human life must always be paid. In the first twenty-one months of the war, five Loyola Alumni have paid their share of that price. All were classmates of the present student body. And again it seems that the best have gone first.

Harry L. Rogers was the first to go. A graduate of Boys Latin High School, he was a member of the class of '43 of the college where he proved himself a capable athlete and sports fan. He took a prominent part in college social life and gained many friends. Long before Pearl Harbor, he left to join the Army Air Forces. He died in a training accident on July 4, 1941.

First To Die In Action

Frank S. Brown was the first to be killed in action. He graduated from Loyola in 1940, where he made sincere and lasting friendships. Shortly after he joined the Naval Air Force. On April 19,

Sophomores Hold Initiation Night

With the numerical odds three to one against them, the sophomore class continued the traditional freshman hazing. Festivities got under way for the innocent "pups" on, of all days, Friday the thirteenth.

The ceremonies held on the campus this year began with each freshman receiving the usual "pup" cap and tie. In the gymnasium recreation room the real initiation began behind closed doors. No printable reports are available of the remainder of the noisy evening. The Student Counselor, who acted as silent guardian of the unhappy first year men, reported that no injuries were suffered. The revels concluded with the freshmen reeling off a lap around the track, backward, which is an old sophomore method of punishment.

Examinations Start Monday

The schedule for the mid-year examinations has been announced by the Office of the Dean. They will begin on the 20th, and end on the 24th of September.

Exams Take Two Hours

The examinations will be of two hours duration beginning at 8:45 A.M. In the cases of the seniors and juniors, who have two exams on some days, the second examination will begin at 12:30 P.M. The Religion examination will be held on September 22. This is the only examination time common to all years. The freshman class has no examinations on Thursday, September 23.

No Juniors Until February

With accelerated courses graduating a class nearly every six months, these will not be exclusively mid-year examinations, properly called. For the present senior class, they will be finals, preceding graduation on October 10. They will end the junior class until February, since the present juniors will become seniors, and the sophomores will not be promoted until February.

Mid-Year Holidays

An eight day holiday for all classes beginning September 25 follows the exams.

Alumni Battle Axis Bandits On All Fronts

By Terrence E. Burke

When THE GREYHOUND published its last service roster on March 26, the list numbered 607 men. Now, only six months later, the list has added another 103 Loyol alumni in uniform. 710 alumni now represent their alma mater on the various battlefronts of the war.

One surrendered with Wainwright in the Philippines, another was at Pearl Harbor on December 7, still another was aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington when she was sunk in the Pacific. Many more await the invasion command in Ireland, England and North Africa. Five have been killed; one is missing in action.

If the worth of a college education is shown by the success of her alumni in later life, then Loyola has an accurate measure of how a college education contributes to advancement in the armed forces. Of the 710 men in service, 240 are Second Lieutenants or better. This represents 34 per cent of the total list, and is six times the ratio of officers to enlisted men in the regular army.

The officers are divided as follows: Lieutenants (Army and Navy), 148; Ensigns, 74; Captains, 13; Lieutenant Commanders, 3; Majors, 2; Lieutenant Colonels, 1; Colonels, 2.

The list of men in active service, as opposed to those awaiting call under Naval and Army reserve plans, was increased on July 1. At that time, fifty sophomores and juniors left college to attend Navy-operated Mount Saint Mary's and Villanova under the V-1 plan. At the present time, besides some V-5 and V-12 candidates in the lower classes, the senior V-7 reservists are the only group still in college.

Greyhound Plans New Press Club

The formation of THE GREYHOUND Press Club was announced by the Reverend Paul J. Gibbons, S.J., moderator of THE GREYHOUND, at the weekly editorial meeting of the staff. The constitution for the new organization is being drawn up by a committee of GREYHOUND members.

The immediate aim of the club will be the compilation of a roster comprising all Loyola men who have worked on the staff. A complete file of issues since the paper's inception in 1927 facilitates John R. Williams' work in heading the committee for membership. The basis for gaining membership will be that the aspirant's name shall have appeared in at least one issue's masthead.

Mario Cichelli '40 New Math Teacher

Mario T. Cichelli, '40 has been appointed instructor in Advanced Mathematics, replacing Francis L. Celauro, it was announced by the Reverend Joseph A. d'Inviillers, S. J., Dean of Studies.

Mr. Cichelli, a graduate of Baltimore City College, entered Loyola in 1936. He was graduated summa cum laude in 1940 and received a fellowship to the Johns Hopkins University, where he is now taking graduate work leading to a doctorate in Chemical Engineering.

Mr. Celauro, his predecessor, taught mathematics at Loyola for three years, and founded the Mathematics Club in 1940. He is now a professor at the University of Syracuse.

Mr. Frank Taylor, S.J., and Mr. Joseph S. May complement the mathematics staff.

APPEAL

In the last issue a complete review of Loyola's part in the war effort was outlined. In examining this program, one hesitates to deem the semester now drawing to a close as successful. The war bonds sales have dropped off to a whisper; a few members of THE GREYHOUND staff have donated blood; the subscriptions to the scholarship fund have become few and far between. It seems that the usual mid-year inertia has found its way into the student body. The odd note is that this usual inertia happens in an otherwise unusual year.

The Third War Loan is now being conducted by the United States Treasury Department. It is not important that the bonds be purchased at Loyola. It is important, however, that the home front buy more bonds. The students can assist by the regular purchase of stamps which will go on sale in a concentrated drive today. As the first means of renewing your pledge to men on the fighting fronts, buy Bonds!

The second step has been the object of a considerable amount of publicity. Everyone who can possibly do so should visit the Red Cross Headquarters in downtown Baltimore to donate a pint of blood. There is no reason to point out the need, and it is equally pointless to tell of the painless process used. As the second means of supporting our men in service, donate a pint of blood to the Red Cross!

For some months, THE GREYHOUND has been conducting a fund which will furnish a scholarship to some high school senior. The scholarship has been issued on the strength of the early returns. Unfortunately, the returns are still considerably lower than the $800 goal set by the previous staff. The present staff is certain that more Loyola alumni and friends intend contributing to the fund. They realize what a Jesuit education means. They know that the country needs the kind of man developed at Loyola. It is just a question of "getting around to contributing." This is an urgent request that those many friends and alumni who intend contributing do so now.

CONDOLENCES

THE GREYHOUND Staff extends prayerful condolences to its News Editor, Joseph G. Kuhn, on the death of his father, Joseph G. Kuhn, Sr., one of the leading engineers in the East, who passed away on August 31 after a brief illness.

The staff attended Mass celebrated by THE GREYHOUND moderator, Reverend Paul J. Gibbons, S.J., on September 8 for the repose of the soul of the deceased.

The Reader's Right

To the Editor of THE GREYHOUND,

Sir:

With the restrictions on sport necessitated by the war, Loyola students should become intramural conscious. Transportation difficulties, man-power shortages and accelerated scholastic programs, each spell trouble in outlining any definite sport program. These problems have been solved elsewhere, and they must be solved here.

The present situation is made more difficult due to the present system of having separate lunch periods for the various classes. The only solution is to carry on the intramural activities after regular class hours. Since the science courses are being stressed, still further leeway must be given the participants. Athletic Director "Lefty" Reitz has agreed to the scheduling of games at any time convenient for participating teams. Thus the dual difficulty of two lunch periods and numerous laboratory hours is solved.

With Navy and Army officials demanding men for service who are physically fit, the intramural program offers an opportunity to get in condition, and at the same time enjoy the companionship which athletics offer. There should be no need for the intramural program to become mandatory. Every man in college should take part in some phase of it.

I have seen the sport scene unfold, as President of the Athletic Association. If Loyola sports are to continue after the war as successfully as they did previous to Pearl Harbor, the student body must be determined to support the intramural program wholeheartedly.

Yours sincerely,

Edward J. Pazourek,

Retiring President of the Athletic Association

Club News

BELLARMINE DEBATING SOCIETY

The two debating societies have been united into one at the request of the college authorities. The last intercollegiate debate was held with Hopkins on September 3 when the pros and cons of "A Federal World Union" were argued. Two other meetings have taken place at which subjects of current interest were discussed.

JUNIOR SODALITY

The Junior Sodality has been staging a stamp drive for the benefit of the missions. The drive will not be restricted to members of the Sodality alone, but it will spread throughout the college. Laurence Bockstie was named chairman of the board in charge of the drive. The members are also learning to recite the Office of the Blessed Virgin Mary for future Chapel meetings.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Math Club, under the direction of Mr. Joseph S. May, Moderator, has had two meetings during the summer months. The mathematicians were instructed in the use of the slide rule, and a lecture was given on navigation. Instruction on the use of the slide rule is given by the members on request.

MENDEL CLUB

At a meeting of the Mendel Club, held on Friday, August 20, A. Gordon Grau gave a lecture on human inheritance. The remainder of the schedule has not as yet been determined.

I. R. C.

The second meeting of the International Relations Club during the summer was held on Wednesday, August 25. The President, Edwin T. Steffy, Jr., gave a talk on "Government of Occupied Territories". On August 27, a delegation joined with members at Johns Hopkins for a discussion of the Russian situation.

SENIOR SODALITY

In elections held at a recent meeting, the following were elected officers for the coming academic year: Anthony Leary, Prefect; John Buchness, Vice-Prefect; Joseph Krejci, Secretary; Clayton McKenny, Treasurer.

News In Brief

The Reverend Edmund P. Cerrute, S. J., who once served as Dean, and as moderator of athletics at Loyola, died on August 15 at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, his native city. Fr. Cerrute was stationed at Evergreen from 1929 to 1934, and at the time of his death he was Dean of Students at Regis High School.

SWINGOLOGY

By John E. Boerner, '43

Greetings Cats!

Here we come at you again, and we see on the nearby horizon the end of this present 'little summer session. "Old Man Summer" has really treated us very rough during the past few weeks. He has presented us with more than our share of heat, and on numerous occasions has made it a little too hot for comfort.

When we turn our eyes to the world of swing, we notice that here too "Mr. Thermometer" has really hit the top. Yes, the heat has really been turned on, and the reason for it seems to be a singer by the name of Frank Sinatra. In the space of about three months this young man has received more publicity, and has created more gossip, than anyone in the music field. His name has become one of the foremost topics of conversation, particularly among the squaws. His pictures and write-ups have appeared in almost every well-known publication in the country, and to top it off, we have even heard about young girls and older women getting hysterical and fainting when they see and hear him.

Just where this appeal of Mr. Sinatra comes from, and just where he gets this ability to make the ladies swoon, your author would certainly like to know. Certainly he is no matinee idol to gaze upon and, I think, at the best only a good singer. For you ardent Sinatra fans who will probably rise up with indignation over this statement, may I say that I am not trying to down Frank, nor take any credit from him. However, I fail to see where he's anything to get hysterical about, and I can't see why many think he surpasses some of the other popular singers of the day. Dick Haymes, Ray Eberle, Perry Como and Jack Leonard are all equally as good as Sinatra. I truly think that Bob Eberle with Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra outclasses Frank quite a bit. As to the absurd statements, frequently made, that Sinatra is not only another Bing Crosby, but is even better than Bing, I can only say this: There's no comparison between the two. Bing has been right up on top for quite a few years, and has very capably borne up under the acid test of time. Until Sinatra can do this, he'll remain on my list as just another good singer of the day.

From the record department and for you lovers of that "Hi De Ho" man, Cab Calloway, Brunswick comes forth with an album featuring some oldies. Among them are "Minnie the Moocher", "Bugle Call Rag", and "St. James Infirmary". Cab himself is the featured vocalist. The hot jazz department via Decca offers Andy Kirk featuring Mary Lou Williams on "Twinklin'", and Floyd Smith on "Floyd's Guitar Blues". Decca once again presents Count Basie on "Blue and Sentimental" and "Doggin'". The great tenor sax of the late Herschal Evans is featured on the former. Two other oldies still holding great appeal on Victor are "One O'Clock Jump" and "Bugle Call Rag" played by the All Star Band. Here we have a terrific combination of soloists: Benny Goodman, T. Dorsey, Coleman Hawkins, Tex Beneke, Count Basie and Harry James to mention a few. Decca digs in again and comes up with the very promising young band of Jay McShann with the "Jumpin' Blues" and "Get Me on Your Mind". Both sides feature the leader on the 88. One of the few newer releases comes out on Columbia. Harry James is the band, and the tunes, "James Session" and "I Heard You Cried Last Night". Harry performs as well as always on the former, while Helen Forrest capably handles the vocal on the latter.

The Ministry of Fear, by Graham Greene. Arthur Rowe, an Englishman of moderate means, wandered into a country church fair one spring afternoon. After winning a huge cake, unusual for its size due to war rationing, and having his fortune told, he sauntered back to his flat in London. From the following evening, when a stranger barges into Rowe's apartment, until the story ends, Rowe becomes entangled in a plot of espionage and intrigue with German spies.

Mr. Greene develops this plot in ghoulish fashion, causing the reader to look over his shoulder to make certain that no one is behind him. This book is recommended for the mystery story addict.

Journey Among Warriors by Eva Curie. Miss Curie undoubtedly possesses a polished and smooth style of writing. But she writes too often merely to accumulate words. Many chapters of her latest work are only rehashes of official communiques told in such a manner that the reader thinks he is going to learn some ultra-secretive information. Miss Curie's book is primarily an elongation of Wendell Wilkie's One World.

George Washington Carver by Rockham Holt. If there are persons in the United States who will not give due praise to the Negro, especially for advances in science, they are recommended to read this eulogy of Doctor Carver. This great Negro scientist spent his whole life serving mankind, both as an educator, and as a research scientist. His most famous discoveries were in connection with the peanut from which he developed such chemicals as dyes and nutritive foods. Furthermore, Doctor Carver's great work as an educator at the Tuskegee Institute brought him into nation-wide prominence among American professors. In the field of learning, Doctor Carver was well-known as an agriculture expert and a great artist.

Periodically We See:

The Earth Movers I, Fortune, August 1943. The story of "six companies of the West," of which Henry J. Kaiser is the leading figure, is dramatically told here. The epic of the West's construction of mammoth dams has contributed largely to the fame of the "big six." Interesting for its insight into American industrial achievement.

THE FIFTH COLUMN

If you keep your money, you're a tightwad. If you spend it, you're a fool. If you own a car, you're extravagant. If you don't, you're a hick. If you go out evenings, you're a gad-about. If you stay at home, you're a rug-hound. If you stay away from church, you're a heathen. If you go to church, you're a hypocrite. If you don't make money, you're a failure. If you do, you're a crook. If you get your income tax wrong, you go to jail. If you get it right, you go to the poorhouse. If you get caught carrying a gun, you're arrested—unless you're a burglar.

You just can't tell about the effect of a haircut. When Samson got his, he sort of went all to pieces. Not so with Fr. Herlihy! He can be seen regularly out on the track issuing orders to those poor unwary souls who have fallen behind in P. T. — And what orders! Compared to Fr. Herlihy's course, Lefty's Reitzkrieg is child's play.

It's a good trick if you can do it, but we frequently see the sign

Since everybody is taking accelerated courses these days, we have a suggestion. A course in accelerated reading would be just the thing for some members of the faculty. If they could return borrowed books to the library just a little earlier than usual (say after two or three months) the students, needless to say, would be very grateful. Then, they wouldn't have to depend on Literary Guild advertisements for their knowledge of the book of the month.

What's cooking in the Cafeteria? Certainly not food. It's really a nice place to eat, though, if you're looking for a cold lunch (and you've brought it with you). The cokes you buy there are as good as any you can buy in Baltimore. Step up to the new brass rail and order one. And did you notice that we're drinking imported root beer these days? It's shipped all the way from Catonsville. And if you can't buy anything else to eat (and you usually can't) there's always an abundant supply of devil-food cake.

After perusing a copy of Hacker's Hymnal, we came upon the following ditty:—
There was a young man from Spokane
Whose verses no reader could scan.
When warned by a poet
He said, "Yes, I know it.
But I try to get just as many syllables into the last line as I possibly can."

Three Teachers Now Chaplains

Besides seven hundred graduates now in the armed services, Loyola College has also given three former teachers as chaplains.

Rev. Arthur A. North, S. J., left Loyola for the Army Air Force Chaplain School on February 18 of last year. In his years at Loyola, Fr. North gained the respect and affection of the entire student body. Under his direction as Student Counselor, the Student Placement Bureau was inaugurated in 1941. Latest reports place Fr. North in New Guinea. He has been raised to the rank of Captain.

Although Rev. Richard F. Grady, S. J., was on the faculty of Scranton University at the time he left for the Army Chaplain School at Harvard last January, Loyola still claims him for her own. Fr. Grady was at Loyola from 1939 to 1942. He was head of the English Department, and Professor of Latin and Religion.

As reported in the August 13 GREYHOUND, Rev. Thomas P. Ward, S. J., Professor of History and Student Counselor until last April, has recently completed the Naval training course for chaplains at William and Mary. He is now stationed at the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va.

All the above are well remembered by members of the present student body. Their excellent work will never be forgotten, and the students they taught assure their former professors of their best wishes and prayers for success.

Two Former Students Held Axis Prisoners

James F. McGee, ex '40 and Francis R. Rittenhouse, ex '43, former students of Loyola College, are now prisoners of war. James McGee was captured by the Japanese during the Philippine Campaign and is being held there as prisoner. During his stay at Loyola, Jim was a constant member of the Sodality and the Sacred Heart League. He left in his last year to enlist in the Army. In 1940 he was the manager of both the baseball and the basketball teams. Active in all intramural sports, he was also co-captain of the varsity ice hockey team in his senior year.

Francis Rittenhouse was taken prisoner by the Italians during the early stages of the North African battle. During his only year here, that of freshman, he was a member of the Sodality, the Holy Name Society and the Dramatic Club. He also played on the varsity lacrosse team, and on an intramural basketball team.

*God of our fathers, known of old,—
Lord of our far-flung battle line,—
Beneath whose awful hand we hold
Dominion over palm and pine,—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget,—lest we forget!
The tumult and the shouting dies,
The captains and the kings depart
Still stands thine ancient sacrifice,—
An humble and a contrite heart.
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget,—lest we forget!
If drunk, with sight of power, we loose
Wild tongues that have not thee
in awe,
Such boasting as the Gentiles use
Or lesser breeds without the law,—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget,—lest we forget!*

Staff Artist Cartoons For Baltimore Sun

Weston B. Emmart, staff cartoonist for THE GREYHOUND, drew a cartoon recently which was published on the editorial page of the Baltimore Evening Sun. The cartoon depicting Hitler's difficulty in keeping the conquered nations subjugated, appeared in the September 3 edition of the Sun.

Mr. Emmart's work has appeared in other publications, but this marks his first sally into the distinguished pages of the Sunpapers. While at Loyola, he has restricted his subject matter to the college's sports. While attending Baltimore City College from which he was graduated, Mr. Emmart drew illustrations of political and scholastic happenings as well. He intends entering the field of commercial art as soon as war conditions permit.

The artist is to be graduated in January of 1944 and is studying for his degree in Philosophy. He has been a member of the staff of THE GREYHOUND since his freshman year. Last year his sketch of three basketball players won recognition from several college papers which have established exchanges with THE GREYHOUND. In addition to his cartoons for publication, he has done caricatures of several outstanding Loyola men.

Greyhound Renews Alumni Canvass Listing Early Graduating Classes

By John H. Plunkett

Herewith we present the second group of Loyola classes. In the course of the year we hope to list the name of every graduate and undergraduate from 1852 to 1943. Since our sources sometimes differ regarding the status of particular alumni, we would appreciate any letters informing us of omissions in our list. We are also trying to discover the occupations of Loyola graduates, and any additional information concerning this would likewise be appreciated. In May of 1944, THE GREYHOUND will publish its complete directory of all alumni with biographical data on each.

AMERICAN HEROES BY LEFF

For extraordinary courage Boatswain's Mate Harold F. Smith, First Class, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross. After orders to abandon the U.S.S. Arizona at Pearl Harbor, he took his motor launch out to the stricken battle wagon repeatedly—in spite of fierce enemy bombing and strafing—in spite of flaming oil on the water's surface—and brought ashore burned and wounded personnel, saving many lives. Your Payroll Savings MUST back such men as this.

Freshmen Win Second Track Meet

Speaking of Champs - - -

Emmart

Juniors Take Second; Goldsmith Highscorer

By EDWARD G. HART, JR.

The freshmen piled up 59½ points in capturing the second track meet of the season, scoring more points than the combined scores of all the other classes. The juniors were second with nineteen tallies, and the seniors followed next with only eight points. The sophomores counted 7½ points, while the February freshmen could score only five counters.

The first meet of the current season was taken by the juniors. Bill Rathell of the sophomore class led the scoring with twenty points. It was the idea of the Athletic Association to hold this meet for the freshmen, and to interest them in sports at the college.

Meet Obligatory

Since many of the students did not enter the first meet of the season, Lefty Reitz announced that the second contest of the season was obligatory for all students, except those who were already on the track team. The winners of the various events will receive medals. Coach Reitz was pleased with the showing, and said that 137 students had participated in the meet.

Frank Goldsmith led the "pups" by scoring ten points. Sid Roche, Bill Thaler and Bill Davis were just behind him with eight points apiece. Jim Murphy, freshman, Joe Burton, junior, and Fred McCrumb, February freshman, each ran up five points for his respective class.

Thrilling Mile

The outstanding race of the entire meet was the mile run which saw a thrilling stretch duel between Thaler and Davis, with Thaler having a little more kick left at the finish than his opponent. "Several of the freshmen looked very good," said track manager Bob Martin, "and must now be considered seriously for next year's varsity track team. Among these are Roche and Goldsmith. In winning the discus Sid Roche showed exceptional ability, and threw as far as several members of this season's varsity."

Results:—

Broad Jump—First, Burton, junior; second, Steffy, junior; third, Hart, frosh; fourth, Gisriel, frosh.

Shot Put—First, Murphy, frosh; second, Fritz, senior; third, Schmitt, frosh; fourth, Steffy, junior.

Discus—First, Roche, frosh; second, Mohler, soph; third, McMillen, junior; fourth, Metzbowler, junior.

High Jump—First, Hodges, frosh and Metzbowler, junior (tie); third, Kuhn, senior; fourth, J. Thaler, frosh.

Loyola Appoints New Track Coach

Mr. Francis Taylor, S. J., Cornell '31, professor of math, has taken over the duties of coaching the Loyola track and cross-country teams. The track team functioned under Bob Martin last season after Mr. James Gallico, S. J., left Loyola in February. Mr. Taylor was the star half-miler on Cornell's Big Red track team in 1929-'30-'31.

"There will be a cross-country team, if opponents can be secured," Lefty Reitz said, "but Mr. Taylor will have trouble with the track team which will start in the spring. Under Bob Martin and Dan Bathon the team made a very good showing but due to the October and January graduations all the holdovers will be lost."

Team Rests On Undergrads

The burden of carrying the team to another successful season lies with the freshmen and sophomores. In the intramural meet the freshmen showed that they have many good runners in their ranks. With these men out for the team there should be no doubt but that Loyola will be running high in the coming season.

"Track at Loyola is a young sport, only two years old. It is still trying to build up a name for itself," said Coach Taylor, "and it is up to the lower classmen to see to it that Loyola's name is carried on the cinderpaths in the coming season."

100 Yard Dash—First, Goldsmith, frosh; second, Walker, senior; third, Mentis, soph and Franz, frosh (tie).

220 Yard Dash—First, Goldsmith, frosh; second, Prescott, frosh; third, Cole, frosh; fourth, Boone, frosh.

Basketeers Train Early

Basketball practice for the 1943-44 season began during August under Coach Lefty Reitz. Practice is being held on the outdoor courts until the indoor court is refinished. Thus Lefty is getting the jump on all the other colleges in the conference.

Only two of these basketeers have worn the Green and Gray in previous years. Ed McGarry of last year's varsity, and Dutch Mohler of the 'B' squad are the lone holdovers of former teams. There is only a slight possibility that Gene O'Connor will return to the court this year. And the coming graduations play a joint role with the Navy and Marine Corps in wrecking havoc on the former varsity.

"Actual serious practice will not get under way until the middle of October," said Coach Lefty Reitz. "The primary purpose of the summer session is to pick out working material from the freshman ranks, and to give them instruction and practice in the basic fundamentals of the game." Lefty seems quite satisfied with their performance although only a few have ever seen real action in high school competition. Jim Lacy, Bill Schanberger, Bill Davis, Tom Gisriel, and Sid Roche have all left outstanding records at Loyola High School for their scholastic efforts.

Lefty Urges Intramurals

"So far, I am greatly disappointed with the lack of interest that the students have shown toward intramural sports," said Lefty Reitz, athletic director of the college, during a recent interview.

The attitude of the students toward such sports, and the fact the fellows have shown little interest, were described in detail by Mr. Reitz. He brought out his point by showing how the students failed to enter the intramural softball league held last month.

"The students should not consider the summer course as if they were only working. I feel that at least a moderate amount of participation and cooperation in sports should accompany the students' studies. The failure of the softball league was one of the main reasons why the compulsory track meet was held", he further stated.

Work Does Not Interfere

It was suggested that many of the fellows are working after school, and because of this they do not have the time to participate in sports at the college. In an explosive manner Lefty came out with an answer which can easily be visualized: "That shouldn't make any difference whatsoever. Fellows still have plenty of time during free periods to play intramural sports."

Letters From Graduates

He pointed out: "If the boys at Loyola could only read some of the many letters that I receive daily from graduates, now serving in the armed services, eagerly begging for news from Loyola and telling me how much they miss the college life which has helped them immensely, they would participate to a much greater extent in college athletics."

Lefty concluded by bringing out the very noticeable fact that these service men have attained something through their earnest activities while at Loyola besides a formal education. "They have obtained the virtues of loyalty and cooperativeness that are a great aid in their present work, and their future peacetime life," said Mr. Reitz.

Dopester's Den

As footballs begin to cut the air and the baseball season draws to a close, Old Dopey decided that it was time to conduct a poll to determine the most valuable member of the Baltimore Orioles. As he cornered the students in the cafe and on the campus, he received many varied answers ranging from the radical who said, "It would be nice if the Orioles had a valuable player," to the conservative who answered, "I haven't been following baseball this year".

When all the results were tabulated Ed (Specs) Klieman had garnered 57% of the total number of votes. Klieman, who became the first twenty game winner of the Orioles since Bill Lohrman, kept the Birds in the thick of the fight all season through his consistent hurling. His closest opponents in the poll were Steve Gromek, another pitcher, and Les McGarrity the youthful catcher who both tallied 8%. Following in close order were George Staller, Bob Repass and Blas Monaco, who set a new International League Record for the number of walks in one season.

Running With The Hounds

By Don Freiert

In a recent track meet conducted by 'Lefty' Reitz and Bob Martin, the freshmen piled up the amazing total of 59½ points. This is very encouraging. It shows that the frosh are at last taking interest in sports at Evergreen. Some of the entrants showed that they had the ability to develop into real stars in the running game. Frank Goldsmith, Bill Davis and Bill Thaler captured the dashes, half-mile and mile runs respectively. The meet, held over a period of four days, proved to be a great success and all participants are to be congratulated.

In the face of the difficulties and inconveniences occasioned by the war, Loyola will again place a basketball team on the court, come November. Having lost all but two men from last year, Coach 'Lefty' Reitz has already started from scratch in an effort to build up a championship team. Even with the loss of all the veterans, Coach Reitz will not be without some seasoned performers. Included among the prospects are Jim Lacy, Bill Schanberger, Bill Davis, Tom Gisriel, and Sid Roche, star members of last year's Loyola High School Maryland Scholastic Championship team. Practice, which was begun in August, is being held on the outside courts while the gym floor is being re-finished.

The results of the student poll published in the previous issue of THE GREYHOUND showed that the students prudently selected their favorite sports commentator and sports writer. Bill Dyer has been a real boon to sports in Baltimore. Ever since Bill came to Baltimore about three years ago, he has won his way into the hearts of sports-minded citizens with his care-free yet sincere descriptions and reports on athletic events. Bill not only considers the professional angle of the game, but he also takes interest in the amateurs. Indeed Mr. Dyer has supported many athletic contests here at Loyola, and has taken a special liking to Evergreen. We wish to thank Bill Dyer for his kind consideration, and hope that he will continue to merit selection by Loyola students.

As for Jesse Linthicum, there is not much that we can add. The Poll tells the whole story. Being the favorite sports writer of the students from Cold Spring Lane is nothing new to Mr. Linthicum. He has been held in high esteem for many years. Besides being a competent and interesting sports reporter, he is also a well-known authority on every sport. Along with many Loyola men, both students and alumni, Jesse is an advocate of the proposal to take the whistle away from basketball referees. Two years ago he suggested that an experiment should be made wherein the referees would take charge of the game from a position off the playing floor. This experiment was carried out, and proved that it would work out better with a few modifications. The sports staff salutes you, Mr. Jesse Linthicum.

It is not very often that we boost an extra-curricular activity in the sports column, but we feel that there is one such activity that has been sadly neglected. That is the Block L Club. This club was organized two years ago for the purpose of furthering athletic activities here at Evergreen. In the beginning it was given fair support, but last year, we are sorry to say, it was poorly attended. This should not be the case. The members of the Club consist of all those men who have won a letter, either major or minor, in any intercollegiate sport. Last year, letters were awarded to nearly one hundred athletes, and still the membership of the Club is far below normal. The Block L was organized for the athletes and they should give it their support. Let's go, fellows, join the Block L Club now.

The director of intramurals has announced that a tennis tournament will take place early in September. This will be the second major intramural event of the summer. It should be the best. All those who plan to enter the tournament should hand in their names early so that the pairings can be prepared. Both single and doubles entries will be accepted.

'Mural Football To Start Season

With intramural softball coming to a close, plans are now being made to form touch football and tennis teams. The last two games of the current season found Burke's Bashers being whitewashed by Harris' Hustlers 12-0. There was a nip and tuck game between Hunter's Bunters and Kuhn's Goons, but the Bunters won out 10-9 in extra innings. However, because of the conflicting class schedules now existing, it has been difficult to arrange many games, and there will be no championship team crowned.

Football Rules

Since football and tennis teams will be formed in the near future, students are urged to form their teams as soon as possible in order to facilitate the arrangement of a suitable schedule. The games will be played after class. Each football squad will be composed of nine men (six players and three substitutes). The teams will have three men on the line and three in the backfield. The games will last thirty minutes, and will be played according to touch football rules.

Bushmasters Champs

Last year's intramural touch football league was highly successful. The winning teams, one from each of two leagues, came together on a snow-covered field to decide the championship for the season. In a fast and exciting game the Bushmasters, sparked by Hayes Kernan and John McMillan, slipped and slid to an 18-6 victory over Barney Goldberg's Fighting Irish. This gave the Bushmasters, representing the sophomore class, the first Loyola Intramural Championship. Five members of this team are still in school, and will be the foundation for a strong junior team in the coming tourney.

At the beginning of the second semester, tennis matches will be played and will run toward the end of the fall season as long as the weather permits. Much keen competition is expected on the courts this fall, and a large number of entrants are anticipated.

Ten Who's Who

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1) as a means by which a deserving student, after displaying outstanding talents in college, may receive recognition. Secondly, to establish a reference volume of authoritative information on America's leading college students. At Loyola, mention in this directory is practically commensurate with membership in the Jesuit Honor Society—Alpha Sigma Nu—and marks the approximate climax of a student's career. Not only has this publication served as an incentive for Loyola men to get the best results from their college experience, but it has served as a compensation for what they have already achieved.

Dinner Planned By 'Greyhound'

The annual GREYHOUND banquet will be held in the Rose Room of the Hotel Emerson on September 25. Richard Lerch and Jerome Cardin are in charge of arrangements, and the entire staff will be present.

The Reverend Paul J. Gibbons, S. J., Moderator of THE GREYHOUND, will present outstanding senior members of the staff with GREYHOUND pins. These pins are emblematic of continued and superior work. Due to the nature of the presentation, names will be announced the night of the banquet. At the same time, the senior members will be inducted into the alumni branch of the newly-formed GREYHOUND Press Club.

Following the dinner, the staff members will hear an address by an outstanding journalist whose identity will be revealed at the time of presentation. Plans are being formulated for further entertainment under the direction of general banquet chairman, Robert Chart-rand.

Office Of Dean

The following regulations are hereby published governing scholastic delinquency:

1. The passing grade is 65%. If the average for the two quarter marks in a subject is less than 65%, the student is debarred from the semester examination in that subject and must tutor 10 hours under one appointed by the Dean. The examination is then taken three weeks after the beginning of the new semester.
2. A student who fails a subject in the semester examination may be required to tutor 10 hours in that subject. He is permitted to take one re-examination three weeks after the beginning of the new semester.
3. A student who is debarred and who after tutoring fails the examination is marked as a failure in that subject. No further examination may be taken.
4. A student who was not debarred but who failed a subject in semester examinations, may take one re-examination. Failing in this, no further examination is given.
5. In the following cases the student will be dismissed from the college:
  - (a) One who before semester examinations has 3 or more debarments.
  - (b) One who after semester examinations and re-examination has 2 failures on his record.

McCarthy Tells Tale Of Lions

By W. Alton McCarthy

Probably out of the hundreds of people who every day use the Calvert Street bridge to cross Jones Falls, less than 50% have noticed the two stone lions which adorn the bridge itself. How many of those who have noticed these two statues are aware of a striking peculiarity? Stone lions with tails of iron! Needless to say, there's a reason for this odd combination.

The story begins in Baltimore in the vintage of the gay 90's. Its chief character is one Larry Finnigan, a true Irishman with an intense dislike of the British Government. This dislike was never stronger than when he was, as the saying goes, "in his cups." To him anything which even remotely suggested 'crown' was an object for abuse.

As our story opens, Mr. Finnigan is walking along Calvert Street. He has fallen off the wagon. As he crosses Mt. Royal Avenue, he suddenly becomes aware that there, looming large before him, are two stone lions—symbols of British dominion.

Suddenly something snaps within him. In a frenzy of rage he searches the street for a weapon. Finally his hand closes around a steel bar. The attack is on.

Blow after blow is aimed at the defenseless statues. Unperturbed they stand there, heedless of their persecution. Infuriated still more by his fruitless labors, Larry shifts his blows from backs and sides to the tails. These, shaken by the terrific punishment, crumble and break off.

In the meantime, a cheering crowd has assembled. Also present are the representatives of the law. Triumphant Larry faces his audience. At this instant there comes to his ears the sound of far off sirens heralding the approach of the Black Maria! The rest we leave to your imagination.

The problem which now faced the Baltimore officials was one of restoring these sturdy lions to their original beauty. They found that to attach stone tails would be very impractical. Therefore, with true southern ingenuity, iron ones were formed and attached to the tail-less lions.

If now, someone should, as did the children of that time, shout the question, "Who cut the tails off the lions?" shout back with the confidence of someone who knows his lions—"LARRY FINNIGAN."

LOYOLA DEBATERS TAKE CONTEST FROM HOPKINS

In its first intercollegiate debate of the season, the Bellarmine Debating Society was victorious over a team from Johns Hopkins University. The debate took place in the gymnasium recreation room at Evergreen.

Hopkins defended the affirmative of the topic, "Resolved: That a Federal World Union should be established after the war". The successful negative team was composed of Paul R. Connolly, Jr., ASN, president of the Bellarmine society, and Robert E. Chartrand, Editor of THE GREYHOUND. The Hopkins debaters were Evans Walter and Irwin Whitkin. Barkley Fritz, ASN, was chairman of the debate.

The three judges were Mr. Anselm Sodaro, Assistant State's Attorney of Baltimore, Mr. William K. Freiert, Honorary President of the Advertising Club, and Mr. Charles Rouse, Sr.

A large audience of students from both schools was present. The debate was followed by dancing and refreshments.

Senior Sodality Aids Navy Men

The members of the Senior Sodality have finished taking up a collection among the students for the purpose of supplying pamphlets to the trainees at the Naval Air Station in Norfolk, Va., it was announced by Rev. Thomas P. Higgins, S.J., Student Counselor. The Rev. Thomas P. Ward, S.J., former Student Counselor, while visiting the campus last month reported that the men under his guidance at Norfolk read numerous pamphlets and were anxious to receive more. Accordingly, the Senior Sodalists solicited the nickels and dimes of the students for this purpose throughout the second quarter.

Continuing their inspiring practices, the entire Sodality assembles in the chapel every Tuesday to recite the rosary in unison. Further, two sodalists receive communion every day for the intentions of early peace for the world, and for the safe return of Loyola men from the distant battlefronts. The names of the members, and the dates on which each is to receive communion, are posted on the bulletin board outside the chapel.

Men In Service

When the Senior V-7 group is called in October, the status of approximately 30 more Loyola men will be changed to that of active duty. The list is growing daily, but it is of necessity incomplete. THE GREYHOUND will continue to publish in the "Alumni Doings" column any promotion, corrections or additions to this list. To this end, the staff will appreciate greatly any information regarding changes in rank, correction of errors or names omitted from the list. Communications should be addressed to the Registrar of the college.

Actors Present Summer Drama

The Masque and Rapier Society opened its season before ninety freshmen as a part of initiation night festivities. The first play, "The Traveller", written by Marc Connelly was a comedy concerning a New York business man who makes a seventy block train ride a glorious adventure. The cast included Jim Garvey, Terry Burke and Jack Plunkett.

The second one act play was George S. Kaufman's hilarious comedy, "If Men Played Cards As Women Do." Tad Siwinski, Bob Chartrand, Leon Krieger and Jim Lacy took the roles as portrayed in the same production in motion pictures.

Tad Siwinski, President of the dramatic society, and Fr. Sullivan, Moderator, announced that their plans for the future were to have regular meetings at which lectures will be given on acting technique, directing, makeup, lighting and stage craft. From time to time a prominent lecturer will speak on these subjects. A recent project of the society was the placing of border lights and stage lights, and installing a curtain.

Early in October three original plays, written by various members of the dramatic society, will be presented. These will be the first in the series of plays which will be given every six weeks.

Five Deceased

1942, in the Pacific area, the plane he was piloting crashed into the sea.

John N. Delahay was killed in North Africa on April 21 of this year. Recommended for Officer Candidate School, his division was ordered overseas before he could enter. His death was a severe blow to the great number of his friends in Baltimore, especially those in the neighborhood of Sts. Philip and James, where he attended grammar school. At Loyola he was a grand athlete, and was chosen by the Sun for its All-Maryland Football Team.

Collins In Plane Crash

Walter F. Collins '44, was the third to die in the month of April. "Rip" was an alumnus of both Loyola High School and Loyola College. His popularity bespeaks itself in his achievements: at high school he was president of his class and an excellent athlete. At college he played football in both freshman and sophomore years. He was killed in a plane crash at Corpus Christi, Texas on April 27.

Only three weeks ago word came of the fifth death, that of James S. Knell of the class of '43. Enlisting in the autumn of 1942, he was sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station where he qualified as a Gunner in the Naval Reserve. He was reported missing in action on March 17, but confirmation of death was delayed until August. His father was the famous Dr. William Andrew Knell. His brother was William Knell, '40, now missing in action.

The toll ends here, and we pray against further growth.

But they died heroes all, and Loyola assures their relatives of prayerful remembrance. Requiem masses have been offered at Loyola for their courageous souls. They died that others might live.
